INTRODUCTION

Carroll County, Mississippi, was formed in 1833 from Indian lands as a result of the Choctaw Cession. All divorces and wills found from that time up to 1875 were abstracted. The original documents are available at the Carroll County Courthouse at Carrollton, Mississippi, and microfilm copies are available at the Mississippi State Archives.

Will Book A was searched page by page. The first will was recorded in August 1834. Several wills were found which were not listed in the will book index and others in the index were listed under incorrect names, causing them to be inaccessible to researchers. Names of slaves have been included where given in the will. Residences were all Carroll County, Mississippi, except where noted otherwise.

The only divorce records found in the Carroll County Courthouse for 1857 through 1875 were in three volumes of Chancery Court records. These volumes were unindexed and were searched page by page. No divorce records were found for the period before 1857.

Carroll County, Mississippi, was formed i Indian lands. The earliest divorce found cery Court records dates from 1857, the 1875. The divorce abstracts include the husband and wife, reasons for divorce, and divorce was granted. The wills were abs
